LYDIA PINKHAM — My son, I was just thinking how our little group of three generations so strongly demonstrates and illustrates my theory of the transmission of health from mother to child, and what can be more striking than the fact that my vigorous health is reproduced in your darling children.

The normal life well being, and happiness of mankind depend upon the physical health and perfection of Woman.

Thousands of women in all parts of the civilized world cherish grateful remembrance of the Vegetable Compound, and daily bless its discoverer.

Send stamp for "Guide to Health," a beautiful illustrated book.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is the only Positive Cure and Legitimate Remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women.

It cures the worst forms of Female Complaints, that Bearing-down Feeling, Weak Back, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, Inflammation, Ovarian Troubles and all Organic Diseases of the Uterus or Womb and is invaluable to the Change of Life. Dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus at an early stage, and checks any tendency to Cancerous Humor. Subdues Faintness, Excitability, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, etc., and invigorates the whole system. For the cure of Kidney Complaints of either sex, the Compound has no rival.

All Druggists sell it as a standard article, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED CO., LYNN, MASS.

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

Immense Audience Addressed by Secretary Blaine

Who Riddles the Free Trade Speech of Carl Schurz.

A Big Day in Major McKinley's District.

CANTON, Ohio, Oct 25 Secretary Blaine arrived here from Pittsburg to-day. He was met at Alliance by a reception committee from Canton and escorted to the city over the Pennsylvania railroad. A crowd of 8,000 greeted Mr Blaine with loud cheering, as he alighted from the train, and followed the carriage, cheering all the way, to the home of Major McKinley, whose guest he was during his stay here. Mr. Blaine was accompanied by Mrs Blaine and daughter Harriet, and Hon William Walter Phelps. Upon arrival at the residence of Maj McKinley an informal reception was held. The early trains in the forenoon had brought large delegations of Republicans from Youngstown, Alliance, Massillon, Wooster, Wellsville and other towns. The and at 1 30 P m a parade of the marching columns occurred. Shortly after noon it began raining and it was decided to have the meeting at the Tabernacle instead of the fair grounds, as originally intended. The building was packed, as was also the Academy of Music, in which an overflow meeting was held. Mr Blaine made the principal address at the Tabernacle, where he was followed by Mr McKinley. He was then driven to the Academy of Music, but only made a brief speech.

Congressman Dalzell was the principal speaker at the Academy. At the Tabernacle Mr Blaine said:

The contest now waging for membership of the next Congress is not properly a contest between the Republican and Democratic parties. It is a contest between

Protectionists and Free Traders

There are a few free traders among the Republicans and many protectionists among the Democrats. It is a contest that goes to the root of the matter as to national prosperity, and on that issue we should settle the question in favor of home interests, good wages and sound prosperity. As I was coming out to this place I found in the newspapers a speech of Carl Schurz, made a week ago in Boston, and I may say in all candor it was an able speech on the free trade side. But like all free traders, Schurz goes back for the golden era for American prosperity to the tariff of 1846—rather a distant view backward. If he had taken the position of the late Alexander Stephens, of Georgia, he might have gone back still further because Stephens thought the golden era of

was when British ships came over laden with goods, anchored in Savannah river and were laden with cotton from the plantations for the return voyage. I have so often heard of the great general prosperity under the tariff of 1846, if you will bear with me, I shall say something of that period. Schurz quotes me as saying (and that is why I make a personal reply) that the ten years between 1846 and 1856 under that tariff were years of very great prosperity in this country. I frankly repeat that those years were years of great prosperity. That tariff of 1846 was approved just about the time the Mexican war broke out and within less than a year more than $100,000,000 was disbursed by the government in all branches of mechanism. We had not

Made That Expenditure

when the famine in Ireland called for every surplus barrel of flour and bushel of grain in the country. We had hardly transported that grain to the other side and sold it at a high price until gold was discovered in California, and the world was enriched with the vast output of the mines. We had hardly put that gold in circulation when the great revolution that began in 1848 paralyzed the industrial energies of Europe and gave the United States a market unparalleled. Europe had hardly quieted the revolutionary disturbance when France and England and Russia went into the Crimean war, and for two years and a half those great nations were paralyzed in their industries. Now, there are four or five of what you might call accidents or incidents of history that would have insured to this country if there had not been a tariff of any kind whatever. Now, if you can produce such a convulsion in the world to-day, if you can discover new gold fields, with uncounted millions thrown into the lap of the people, if you can have every nation in Europe disturbed by revolution, if you can have the three greatest nations in Europe go to war for two years and a half then we will all quit talking, tariff and go to supplying the vacuum which that condition of things in Europe would create. In the fall of 1856, when this tariff had been under way 10 years, this great war in Europe came to an end, and so did all the prosperity under the tariff of 1846. You all remember what happened in 1857, one of the severest

Panics and Depressions

the country ever encountered, and long as those accidental props, these fortuitous happenings, those accidental revolutions, discoveries of gold, and famine—as soon as they ceased, prosperity under the tariff of 1846 ceased also. Now I insist we do not want famines, we do not want revolutions, we do not want thousands of men slaughtered by war in order to keep up the free trade tariff and make it look prosperous when it is not. Give us a protective tariff and we can get along without slaughter or starvation of men. The only three tariffs the United States ever had that suddenly lowered duties was one made after the war of 1812 the

of 1833, and one in 1846, and every one has led to business prostration in this country, which lasted in greater or less degree until a protective tariff was enacted. You never heard of a free trade tariff coming to the relief of the people. Some [illegible] want us to let the protective tariff go by in order to make experiments again. Well, I would like to see that experiment tried, if only one or two people were to suffer, but it is a pretty hard thing to take the dreadful and terrible chance of prostrating the industries of the country when 64,000,000 mouths are to be fed. When the tariff of 1846 was enacted, only 20,000,000 people were in this country. We now have sixty-four millions. Four years after the tariff was enacted we only had seven thousand millions of property. We now have

and sixty thousand millions of property. Gentlemen, you can not sport with that number of people and with that mass of property. We cannot experiment, even at this time, and hazard that vast interest when we could not put the country where it stands to-day for ten pestilential years thereafter. (Applause)

Mr Blaine then took up the question of reciprocity with the South American states and said: I would like to ask Mr Schurz before this Ohio audience how free trade is going to let us into their markets with our products. We have been giving Brazil a market for their nearly sixty and they were taking from us seven or eight or nine millions. Now suppose we declared absolute free trade, how would that help us with Brazil? They have not been buying anything and do not es any thing is free. Thirty-six millions of dollars worth of coffee, fourteen to sixteen millions of rubber, several millions of hides and a great many dye stuffs and wood of that kind are all coming into the United States without a shilling of duty. But we want to send them some flour, lumber, corn and wheat products of the West as well as of the East and are not satisfied as things are going. Well, we went on and awakened them to the

and found they feel just as we do—that two nations dealing with each other must deal as two men do with each other, fairly and honestly and liberally; so the advantage will not always be on the side of one man or on the side of one nation. Well, that was reciprocity. It is not a very complex problem. Mr Schurz rather intimates it is a strange way of getting at things. How strangely mysterious reciprocity is. It is just as strange and mysterious as when a Starke county farmer brings a hundred bushels of wheat to Canton, gets his money for it, buys supplies for his family and goes back home. That is a mysterious process and very

Difficult to Understand

Yet, I am sure Brazil and all the South American States understood it the moment it was mentioned. Yes I am sure and I speak with great candor when I say I believe we will make a very favorable arrangement to trade with South America. Take a country like Venezuela, of a large area but of small population, with not more than two and a half to three millions. They bring us $10,400,000 worth of products. Every cent of that except $6,000 escapes taxation. We send them a good many things, but do not send them one shillings worth that is not taxed by them. That is not fair. They admit it is not fair, and are glad and willing and place us on a reciprocal ground that will be to the prosperity of the country and to the prosperity of the other. I have not seen approval from any free trade country of the reciprocity idea that has stood the test for three months. When reciprocity was first suggested the free traders all, or nearly all, approved. At that time they thought it would divide the protectionists in Congress and they urged it very earnestly as long as they thought there would be some division, as long as they conceived it was a dividing line that might obstruct the protectionists—

Mr Blaine did not finish this paragraph, as the crowd in the gallery at his left became excited and started the half panic-stricken people for exit. Mr Blaine and Minister Phelps discovered at a glance that the gallery was in and both shouted to the crowd and waved their hands to reassure the excited throng. When quiet was restored Mr Blaine resumed his remarks, as follows:

Now, as I was saying, these free traders thought they heard a little crack (Cheers) They thought the Republican party would be stampeded (Applause) Now the Republicans were not frightened by a crack (Cheers) As long as the free traders thought there would be a division in the Republican party they encouraged reciprocity, but soon they found the Republican party was not in the habit of having divisions in its ranks. The ranks closed up and reciprocity provisions were adopted by the Republican Congress. (Cheers) Just as soon as the free traders found reciprocity was not to be used to divide the Republican party they and now they are repudiating it as I am telling you what a humbug it is, and how little value there is in it, and how small result there will be to the people of this country from it. Well, it is never wise to make a prediction before the event. It is not wise for free traders to proclaim its failure at present. I don't propose to say anything about its success. We are given a year in which to try it. Let us wait a year and see what can be done. I am not here to condemn the course of the free traders. Your duty, gentlemen, if I may suggest, is to elect a protectionist to Congress. You have a

Special Reason

Congress has 325 members. It is a very great distinction to any man, distinction to the district represented and a distinction to the man himself to be placed at the head of the Committee on Ways and Means and to lead the House of Representatives. That is where Thaddeus Stephens stood the last eight years of his life, that is where that great citizen of Ohio is lately deceased, Gen Robert C Schenck, stood six years, and that is where William McKinley stands now, and I appeal both to your interest and your pride to send him back again that he may be useful not merely to this district, not to his State alone but to the people of the United States.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

One Man Killed and Others Badly Injured

READING, Pa, Oct. 25. The Reading railroad express train which left here at 8 30 o'clock this morning ran into three loaded coal cars at Warwick Siding half a mile from Pottstown.

Joseph Markowitz, who was on one of the coal cars, was killed. John Marks, who was also on a coal car, had his skull fractured and may not recover. Engineer Heller had a leg broken. Thomas Welsh, the fireman, was badly scalded. David Snyder was badly cut. Thomas Hennes had his leg crushed.

The passengers were all badly shaken up.

Brooklyns 7; Louisvilles 2.

Base hits—Brooklyns, 7, Louisvilles 4. Errors—Brooklyns, 1; Louisvilles 6. Batteries—Lovett and Daly; Dailey and Ryan.

THE LAST DAY

Of Registration in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. To-day was the fourth and last day of registration in this city. The number registered was 52,331, making the total registration 215,164, against 218,913 last year and 288,541 in 1888.

ONTARIO.

Rumor of Commutation of Birchall's Sentence.

OTTAWA, Oct., Oct. 25. It was reported here this afternoon that the government will commute the sentence of Birchall to imprisonment for life. No confirmation of the report can be obtained, however, and officials high in authority take the law will be allowed to take its course. [illegible]

BREWER LOCALS.

Schooner Telumah has cleared from D. Sargent's Sons with lumber for New York.

Jerry Dunn left Sunday morning for Jacksonville, Fla, where he will pass the winter.

The electric light poles are in place and all the lights will probably be on in a day or two.

Schooner Mary Lymburner is loading lumber at Smith's mill for Vineyard Haven, Mass.

Everything was dull Saturday except the weather which was bright and beautiful enough to suit the most exacting.

City Treasurer Farrington is still confined to his house, being well enough, however, to attend to business there.

Schooner Izetta, owned by Capt F. G. Arey and others, lost both anchors in the recent gale and had to be towed into Boston.

Mr C E Wentworth, of Sparks, Wentworth & Woodbury, has so far recovered his health as to be able to be at the store again.

The work of shingling Ayer's logs at Dyer's Cove continues briskly, and a big pile of logs is being laid up for next spring's use.

A very handsome hand painted fire screen, in wild roses, greets the eye of the visitors to H T Keller's store. It is the work of Mrs Arthur Merrill, of Bangor.

Some nimble fingered individual entered the store of Nickerson & Brastow through the back door and entering the meat room got away with a nice fifteen pound pork roast.

Mr Isaac B. Rich, of Boston, the well known theatrical manager, dined Saturday with his old friend Capt F G Arey, and left for a visit to his old home at Bucksport.

The electric cars were well patronized yesterday, big crowds of young people coming over the bridge to enjoy the salubrity of the day and the pleasure of the ride at the same time.

The remaining stacks of the J F Woodbury Ice Company, which have for some time been in process of demolition, at the corner of Belton and railroad streets, are now all cut down and the lumber is being disposed of. Only one wall was standing on Saturday.

BIG BARNS AND BIG FARMING. On Saturday Capt F G Arey shipped to Hon Frank Jones, of Portsmouth, the frames for two barns which Mr Jones is to build on his big farm. The barns will be each 55x52 and will require 310,000 slate to cover them. Mr Jones has eight barns on his farm which yields 900 tons of hay annually. Another small item the present year was 8,000 bushels of early potatoes, which sold from $1 00 down to 70 cents a bushel, the average price being 84 cents. He also raises an immense amount of table vegetables with which he supplies the wants of his hotel during the season.

A CROWNING GLORY.

Tourists in Europe love to visit the homes of Shakespeare, Milton and Burns and others who have reputations. A good reputation is mightier than the sword, pen or money king, and its halo permeates the dark corners and adulteration and imitation exposing them. On its reputation, born of effectiveness, Brussels soap will live for all time and flourish like that green bay tree. Fixed is the reputation of Brussels soap.

HE YELLED KEMP'S BALSAM

I yell "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure." I always do when I hear a man cough, and I can't help it. It saved me and it will cure you. I was threatened with pneumonia last winter and it broke it up. It helps the children out when their throats are sore, cures their coughs, and tastes so good. The first dose helps you. So writes A. R. Arnold, engineer on the West Shore Ry, at Canajoharie, N. Y.

Pears' Soap secures a beautiful complexion. 1

Pain and dread attend the use of most catarrh remedies. Liquids and snuffs are unpleasant as well as dangerous. Ely's Cream Balm is safe, pleasant, easily applied into the nostrils, and a sure cure. It cleanses the nasal passages and heals the inflamed membrane, giving relief at once. Price 50c. FMW&w2w oct17

ASK YOUR FRIENDS ABOUT IT.

Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottles 50 cts. and $1 at all druggists. Sample bottle free. mch31 MWF&W

PERSONAL LIBERTY vs. PHYSICAL SLAVERY.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which dissolves the bonds of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty. 8

A Move to Establish a City Hospital in Waterville.

A Novel Spectacle Witnessed in the Woods Recently.

Androscoggin

Never in its history has Auburn jail been so taxed to accommodate prisoners as at the present time. There are something over 30 inmates there now, and new ones are constantly coming.

Workmen are engaged in relaying the side track at the Upper Maine Central station in Lewiston to make room for the foundations of the new station there. Work is to be begun at once and pushed as rapidly as possible. The building will be a great addition to the city when completed.

Aroostook.

Up to date the potato banner in Aroostook is held by George Currie, of Caribou, who placed on exhibition a full barrel of potatoes that contained only 98 tubers. They furnish a practical illustration of the wonderful fertility of Aroostook's soil.

Richard Head, who attempted to keep an alleged hotel at Madawaska lake, and who was arrested for selling liquor, has "skipped" across the line and the Caribou Republican says his bondsmen are mourning his absence.

F M York's starch factory at Caribou, caught fire, last week, but the flames were confined to the interior. There were six tons of starch in the house. The loss is estimated at $1,100. Insured.

John McGinnis, a young man living near Madawaska stream, was thrown from his carriage recently, and one of the wheels passed over his head fracturing his skull. He remained unconscious more than twenty-four hours, and the Republican says slight hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Stephen, the twelve-year old son of Richard Ever of Fort Fairfield, left his grandmother's lately to go to the village, and the Aroostook Republican says he has not been seen or heard from since.

Mr J C Rockwood, of Calais, displayed unusual contempt for a highwayman. At Bog Brook, when driving home he was ordered to stop and throw up his hands. In lieu of such procedure he merely started his horse into a rapid gait, and bade the bold villain good night.

Cumberland

The burglar who broke into Mr Colesworthy's store at West Gorham was arrested in Portland, last week, where he was trying to dispose of some of the stolen goods. He confessed and gave his name as Simpson.

Rev E A Burbank, rector of the Episcopal church, Brunswick, will preach his farewell sermon the first Sunday in November.

Mr Silas Orne slipped from the deck of the Forest Queen and fell overboard while coming through Diamond Island roads last week and would have been drowned but for the crew of the schooner Leamora, of Portsmouth, who, by prompt action were able to grasp the drowning man by the hair as he was going down for the last time.

Hancock

Rev C C Phelan and Miss Sarah W Fremorgy, of Surry, have been holding revival meetings at West Sullivan for the past three weeks and never in the history of the place has there been so great religious interest, says the Bar Harbor Record. Sixty two have started in the Christian life.

The principals in the recent swell wedding at Bar Harbor, Lieutenant and Mrs Klipfel, are to reside in Hanover Germany where apartments are being elegantly fitted up for them with American furnishings out of deference to the bride.

Kennebec

The Maine Farmer recalls the fact that in Augusta, during the reform movement of a few years ago, when the wave of an enlightened public sentiment seemed to engulf the rum shops, an attempt was made to fire the house of Mr F. C Rogers, now pastor of the Union street Methodist church in Bangor. Mr Rogers was president of the Augusta Reform Club, and one evening there was thrown into his sitting room a bottle of explosives. Happily, the object aimed at was not accomplished. Rev. Mr. Haddock, of another State, whose son is now the pastor of the Methodist church in Brunswick, was murdered by rumsellers because he was conspicuous in his advocacy of the temperance cause.

Frank W Bowman has sold the business of the Lockwood Hotel, Waterville, to Mr C R Miller, who has been clerk at that hostelry ever since the start, and who will take possession the first of November.

Chas. Watson's shop at Hallowell, was broken into last week and three revolvers valued at $6 each were taken. Officers chased the thief but he escaped.

The Baptist church of East Winthrop has extended a call to Rev W. F. Foljambe, of Woonsocket, R I.

Announcement is made of the formation and incorporation of an organization, the object of which is to establish a city hospital at Waterville. Among the features foreshadowed are free beds and tickets at low rates to be sold for one year to those who wish to be treated free of other cost in case they should be taken sick during the year, while at a certain hour, three times a week, the doctors may be consulted at the hospital and prescriptions given to the poor free of charge. A training school for nurses is also contemplated in connection.

Just now is a season of tabulation statistics in the labor commissioner's office. Returns from individual farmers in the different counties of the State have been entered on the tabulation sheets, and deductions and analyses are now being made preparatory to the work of obtaining averages and totals, which, in the report of the commission, will afford those interested in Maine agriculture some very instructive and entertaining reading. A large majority of the returns report the farms as increasing in productiveness.

Knox.

Rockland has some industrious ladies. The sale and supper held by the ladies of the Bay View Chapel, at Ingraham Hill, Wednesday night, netted a handsome little sum for the work of the chapel. The ladies of Edwin Libbey Relief Corps of Rockland, gave a supper in G. A. R. Hall, Thursday night, and repeated it Friday night.

Piscataquis

A sketch of the new resort called "Soldier's Retreat," where the Grand Army men like to linger in the summer days is given by the Piscataquis Observer. The resort has recently been laid out and trimmed up by Mr Edwin S Libby. It is on the borders of Garland Pond in Sebec, in whose waters trout abound and whose groves are filled with song-birds. Rustic seats are provided in every direction, some of stone, others formed from the gnarled trunks of trees, and many made in a primitive manner from boards. A huge boulder looking out upon the lake, is ascended by a railed inclined walk of timber, covered with plank. At the present time, a capacious tent is pitched a little back from the beach, where after a camp fire had been recently held by the G. A. R., all the comrades laid down to rest for what was left of the night.

Somerset.

Georgie Cushing, county treasurer, of Somerset county, informs the Skowhegan Reporter that the whole expense to the county of Somerset of the trial of Micah W. Norton, including the coroner's inquest on the body of Mrs. Cooley, is $3,111.33.

Work at the woolen mill at Skowhegan is rushing with large orders ahead, the work is on light cassimeres.

Work has begun on the sewer to be laid on Court street, Skowhegan. The county, town and the abuttors stand the expense together. Mr H. H Gilman has charge of the work. Four years ago the town started in for a sewer system and at the annual meeting voted $5000 with the understanding that about this amount should be raised every year until an adequate sewer system was completed. At the next annual meeting the same amount was raised and a committee was chosen to have charge of the work. The committee used the money raised and more too contracting a large debt. This displeased some of the citizens and they refused to vote any more money for the work. The erection of the county building made a sewer absolutely necessary and the county will therefore assist in the expense.

Belfast has one of the oldest clubs in the State called the Club of Thirty and of it the Belfast Age gives the following account. It was first organized in 1863 and in its by laws were entered "No game for money shall be played, no person can be admitted a member when one negative vote appears, the club shall not consist of more than thirty members." Since the organization eleven of the members have been mayors of the city eight representatives to the Legislature three sheriffs of the county, one judge of the supreme court, two postmasters, one member of Congress, one State senator and attorney general one historian one consul general, one railroad president. Previous to the club's organization one of its members was governor of the State, and another was a foreign minister. Of the original club six are still members being Joseph Williamson, C B Hazeltine Hiram Chase, W C Marshall S L Milliken and Daniel Lane. Fourteen of the original members are dead. The club to-day is composed of leading business men of the city.

Critchett, Sibley & Co's shoe shop at Belfast is being enlarged by an extension 50 feet long and 12 feet wide. From the extension will rise the tower, 12 feet square and 71 feet high. At the top of the tower will be a tank containing 5000 gallons of water which will feed the Grinnell system of automatic sprinklers for fire purposes. When the present engine room and the extension are thrown into the sole room, that part of the factory will be enlarged. An iron chimney 60 feet high will be erected at the new power house and the old brick one will be removed.

Washington

Charles Smith of Pembroke committed an act lately, that may cause him trouble though the liquor plea is advanced says the Calais Times. He fired from a revolver a number of shots through the window of Mrs. Jacob Frost's house and though no serious injury was done it is claimed that the purpose of the offender was to kill the woman named.

The quantity and size of the fish caught in the harbor at Eastport close to the wharves this fall is something unusual. One day John Black and Fred Spear were out in a little boat and made fast to the Cutter's mooring. They got a good catch of fish in a short time and among them was a cod that weighed eleven pounds and a pollock fully as large. A boy fishing from Blanchard's wharf caught a seven pound pollock.

James Ingalls of Deer Island who is employed in boating sardine fish to the Kemp factory had a very narrow escape from drowning last week, says the Sentinel. He left the factory about four o'clock and started alone in his large sail boat for home. When off town he fell overboard and with the heavy northeast wind blowing at the time his boat was soon carried far beyond his reach and being well out in the harbor when the accident happened he was not noticed from the shore. Mr Ingalls struck out for the shore and though the day was cold and quite a heavy sea running he was enabled by great endurance to keep above water for ten or fifteen minutes, and make his way back to a point in the harbor opposite the factory. Here, fortunately, his position was noticed and boats put off to pick him up. The rescue was watched by many anxious ones, for in the rough sea it was doubted if the now exhausted and almost lifeless body could be taken into the little boat, but by skillful management Samuel Freeman succeeded in taking the drowning man aboard and soon landing at Hallett's beach. He was taken to the nearest house and by proper and prompt treatment regained consciousness before the arrival of a doctor.

A Calais exchange seems to hit the case pretty well in the following: Who dare say that the days of miracles are past when only a few nights since a modern Hippocrates visited our streets and caused the deaf to hear and the lame to leap for joy ( ) by the application, internal and external, of his marvellous catholicons. It is stranger than fiction how these decoctions will rejuvenate some people and doubly strange how people will be "gulled" into believing and patronizing such charlatans.

The Eastport Water Company is pushing its project of laying pipe to Boyden's lake, and has nearly a hundred men employed. The weather is favorable, but little blasting is required, and the work will be completed this fall. Eastport will then be furnished with an unsurpassed water supply.

The Washington County Teachers' Association will meet at Dennysville, on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov 11th and 12th. The meeting will be conducted by Hon N A Luce, state superintendent of schools, assisted by leading educators.

In the past week two bears and three deer have been seen within the limits of Calais.

The lumbermen are making preparations for their annual logging campaign and many men have already left for the preliminary work in the woods.

One town in Washington county, Columbia Falls, has shipped 12,000 bushels of blueberries this season.

Rob Ridley, who has been stopping at Wesley for a few days, says that while out hunting in the vicinity of Fletcher brook he witnessed a novel spectacle. He saw a deer some distance ahead, bounding up and down in the same track. The action of the animal was so strange that he forgot to shoot, but kept advancing. The big buck at last saw him and darted into a thicket. Ridley being curious to know what the animal had been doing, approached the spot and found a large black snake almost beaten into the ground. The deer was killing the reptile when discovered and frightened away.

As Mr J C Rockwood and J C Jackson were coming up from Red Beach, about nine o'clock in the evening, on passing through the dense piece of woods between the watering trough and the Bog Brook school house, where it was so dark they could hardly see the horse before them, a man in the road ordered them to halt, says the Calais Advertiser. Rockwood, who was driving, set out to obey the command and had slackened his pace somewhat, when the fellow ordered them to throw up their hands. Rockwood then gave the horse a smart cut of the whip and left the would be highwayman in the road.

York.

A legal contest over a bad dog is predicted in Biddeford. A little Leavitt boy was bitten by a mastiff owned by Joseph Cote, and the Biddeford Journal says his hand is fearfully swollen, and bitten so cleanly through by the dog's big teeth that the physician, in cauterizing the wound, runs a wire through the hand. Lockjaw is feared, and the boy's father insists upon having the dog killed. The dogs' owner is willing to pay any damages which Mr Leavitt sets, but is attached to the dog, and has secured counsel and will not allow the dog to be killed unless compelled to surrender.

Rev William G Mann, who closes his pastorate with the Second Congregational church Biddeford next week, going from there to Pueblo Cal, was presented by his parishioners with a costly gold watch and chain.

The York county wheelmen decided on Friday evening December 19 as a date for their annual ball which will take place in Saco City Hall.

Scrofula

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or goitre, humor in the eyes causing partial or total blindness yield to the powerful effects of this medicine.

The Worst Type

My son was afflicted with the worst type of scrofula and on the recommendation of my druggist I gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla. Today he is sound and well notwithstanding it was said there was not enough medicine in Illinois to effect a cure. J. CHRISTIAN, Illipolis, Ill. Be sure to get Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

MONDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1890.

This is the last week of the campaign and politics will have the call in all the November States.

The Democrats, who, a few weeks ago, were so sure of the next House that they had settled upon the exact majority, are not so sanguine as they were. With honest elections there would be no question about a Republican majority.

In a sense this will pass for an educational campaign. It will teach the comparatively few people who have not already learned the lesson what versatile liars the Democratic free trade organs are.

Gov. Hill seems to be pushing his boom for the Presidential nomination with a good deal of vigor. Mr. Cleveland will have to put his cyclopedia in his grip and get on to the track pretty soon or his competitor will gain several laps in the race.

Judge Leggett, of Iowa, in his instruction to the Grand Jury declared that the action of the inferior United States Courts on the original package question was not binding upon the Courts of that State and until the question is finally settled it is the duty of the Grand Jury to consider the law valid and to enforce it against all violators, whether by original package sales, or otherwise

The New York World reads the riot act to its party and says immediate and effective work is an absolute necessity to prevent the Republicans from controlling the next House. It declares that it is time for plain speaking and strikes out right and left. This earnest appeal makes the loud boasts of the minor Democratic organs about a sure Democratic majority sound a trifle ridiculous.

The Democratic papers have a fresh grievance against Mr. Blaine. They al insisted that Mr. McKinley did not want him to speak in his district, and then when they found that he had been earnestly pressed to visit Ohio declared that he would find it impossible to go. Mr. Blaine did go, however, and Saturday addressed an immense audience at Canton. He was given a most enthusiastic reception and his speech was warmly applauded by thousands.

We learn from an editorial paragraph in the Commercial that the Chicago News prints an article charging that the nickel ore appropriation passed in the last days of the session of Congress was "a job." The Commercial adds that the character of the gentleman named is a sufficient shield against anything but the most convincing proof. We have looked through our exchanges of Saturday but fail to find any reference to the matter, hence do not know the details of the article which is purely sensational.

The Republicans have beaten the Democrats in the matter of registration in New York City. The Democratic World says. "In spite of the alleged demoralization of the Republican machine and the confident statements that it is going to pieces from the effect of the latest deal in which it has been involved by its leader, the figures show that the registration is heaviest in the Republican districts. The result of the registration for the first two days was that the Republican districts gained about 30 per cent. to 13 per cent. gain in Democratic districts. A careful inspection indicates that the ratio of gains as between the Democratic and Republican districts for the first two days has been maintained. This means that the Republicans are coming out to register, and presumably to vote, in greater numbers, comparatively, than the Democrats. What else it may mean is a question for the politicians to wrestle over and the returns on election night to settle."

The Republicans of the Ohio House decided to step in and relieve the State of the corruptionists appointed by Gov. Campbell, and by giving their solid support to the measure the bill for a non-partisan Board of Improvement at Cincinnati was passed. Twenty-four Democrats voted with the Republicans and passed the bill in accordance with the recommendations in the Governor's last message, by a vote of 71 yeas to 33 nays. In the debate on the proposition, Speaker Hysell, Speaker pro tem Robinson, Messrs. McDermott of Muskingum, and Geyer of Paulding, all Democrats, and the latter secretary of the State Executive Committee, severely criticised Governor Campbell, declaring that he was insincere in his professions favoring home rule, that he assumed to be a dictator, demanding the conviction of men without presenting one iota of evidence, and that he had made a great mistake in calling the extraordinary session. The law enacted provides for a non-partisan board to succeed the present board, the members to be appointed by the Republican mayor, and those appointed to serve until April, 1891, when their successors are elected by the people. The bill was signed by the presiding officers of both houses, and the legislature adjourned until January 6.

The free trade writers and speakers are having a hard time in their campaign. They insist that this country is going to everlasting smash all on account of the "beastly McKinley bill, you know." High prices prevail on the Democratic stump and in the editorial articles published in Democratic papers, but the advertising columns of the same organs continue to announce greater bargains than ever. A gentleman recently sent a letter to the house of Cobb, Bates & Yerxa, the great Boston grocery firm, asking if the aggregate cost to the consumer would be increased or decreased under the new tariff, and to what extent. The firm replied over their own name that after April first when the sugar and molasses duties are removed the annual saving to their customers will be over rather than under $150,000. What is true of this firm is true of all in proportion to the amount of business. The Dry Goods Chronicle has made a summary of the practical effects of the new tariff as illustrated by the new enterprises to be started in all parts of the country. The list numbers over 150 and will employ, it is estimated, from 30,000 to 40,000 hands. The summary indicates 41 woolen mills, 6 worsted mills, 1 carpet mill, 20 hosiery and knitting mills, 1 linen mill, 1 lace factory, 6 silk mills and 78 cotton mills. The heartless manner in which the promoters of these new enterprises knock over the flimsed arguments of the apostles of free trade is really too bad, but the people will stand no end of this method of ruining the country.

It is worthy of note that a Thursday night's meeting of the Harvard Union on the Federal Election bill was indorsed by a good majority. Somehow President Eliot does not seem to succeed in carrying his young men with him over to the Democratic party.

Life Insurance at Cost.

The following example of a policy in force will show at what an extremely low cost the CONNECTICUT MUTUAL has been able to furnish insurance to its members in the past.

Henry N. Fairbanks, Bangor, Maine, insured March 23d, 1870, for $5,000 by policy No. 109,62?, annual Life Plan, age 31. Premium, $69.37.

I have paid 21 Premiums of $69.87 each, in all $1,467.27
Less surplus premiums dividends, $451 44
Total cash premiums on $5,000 for 21 years $1,015.83
Average cost per year, for one, $1,000, $16 13

I can now surrender policy for paid up insurance for $1,492, and this paid policy would participate each year in the surplus of the Company.

Eaton, of Calais, roan stallion, Rattler, was won by the latter. Best time, 2.39. The track was heavy. There was a good crowd present and considerable excitement. A large amount of money changed hands.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

Gang of Boy Burglars Caught.

BIDDEFORD, Oct. 26. A boy eight years old was caught this morning in John B. Murphy's store, which was burglarized Friday night. He admitted that he and four other French boys committed the burglary there Friday. The others were arrested to-day and they confessed. Another gang of these French boys, ages fourteen to seventeen, was arrested tonight on suspicion of being connected with several recent petty burglaries.

FROM BATH.

Mr. Horace Morse Killed Accidentally.

BATH, Oct. 26. Horace Morse, one of the firm of Morse Bros., ship builders, was killed last night by a hose cart running to a fire. He lived 30 minutes. He was aged about 25 years.

A SERIOUS BLAZE.

The City of Mobile, Ala., Suffers Severely from Fire.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 26. Mobile suffered severely by fire to-day, the buildings consumed being a shingle mill, three cotton compresses, five cotton warehouses, 5,630 bales of cotton, the Gulf City oil mill, the Mobile ice factory, three steamboats, one loaded and five empty freight cars, two coal and wood yards, the freight depot, a small amount of freight, and six wharves. The fire was aided by a strong northwest wind and had it been a point or two nearer north pretty much all of the town would have gone. The loss is $545,000, with about $335,000 insurance.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Vessels in Collision.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. Captain Nathaniel Stephens of the Sound steamer Continental, reported to the local board of steamboat inspectors to-day that his vessel Thursday last collided with the schooner Helen Keller, of Old Ferry Point. He claims that those in charge of the schooner are responsible for the collision. The Continental was damaged considerably.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The State Grange.

CONCORD, Oct. 25. The date and place of the annual meeting of the State Grange was fixed by the executive committee to-day for December 16, 17 and 18 at Manchester.

The committee passed resolutions urging the passage by the next Legislature of a measure which shall [illegible] subject to double taxation.

SELF CONFESSED FORGER.

Crooked Transactions of Brockton Stock Broker.

Sudden Fall from Reputation as an Upright Man.

BROCKTON, Mass., Oct. 25. Charles W. Robinson, a well known stock broker of this city and who had been doing business through John Stetson's banking house, Boston, is a self confessed forger. The details of his doings are very much complicated and the exact amount of the forgeries and pilferings cannot be given but enough is known to state that the amount will not fall short of $85,000.

His Whereabouts Unknown.

BROCKTON, Mass., Oct. 26. C. W. Robinson, the stock broker of this city who forged notes amounting to upwards of $150,000, went to Boston Friday, since which time his doings and whereabouts are unknown. In conversation with S. P. Howard, his partner, Robinson admitted that within six months he had placed nearly $30,000 in forged paper, and taken care of it. He said if his partners would keep quiet for a few days he would provide for the forged paper now out. Those who held this forged paper state that they considered Robinson an upright citizen and did not wish to blot his character for one misdeed and so did not report the forgeries to his partners. Howard & Goldthwaite admit to-night that by the Home National Bank amounting to nearly $30,000 bear their endorsements and will be met, yet the names of the makers of the notes are forgeries. It is stated the Brockton National Bank held forged notes amounting to about $14,000, which bear Howard & Goldthwaite's signature and Goldthwaite admits losing about $85,000 by three transactions and Howard lost fully as much. Several quite intimate with the absconder think the loss amounts to more than $150,000. Robinson as clerk of the police court of the city, has not rendered an account for seven months. It is thought several will be unravelled. About ten days ago Mayor Douglas held a consultation with Robinson in regard to the matter and the latter agreed to furnish a statement last Saturday. No account has yet been filed. Among Robinson's papers was found a carefully drawn sheet showing notes believed to be out, but where they are is indeed a mystery, as opposite each entry are characters that can only be read by himself. These notes amount to several thousand dollars.

The Notes Held

DELIBERATELY SHOT.

Brutal Shooting Affray in a Connecticut Town.

BRANCHVILLE, Conn., Oct. 25. Clarence Osborne, a milkman, residing with his widowed mother in Georgetown, a small village two miles south of this station, was shot at ten o'clock this forenoon and perhaps fatally wounded by William Lobdell, who formerly worked here in one of the mills.

Osborne is twenty-three years old, and bears a good reputation. He had some money left by a brother and with a portion of this set himself up in business. Lobdell came here last spring from Brewsters, N. Y., where he has parents living. He is seventeen years of age and was continually Getting Himself into Trouble.

Last night he spent in dissipation with friends, and one of the first acts of [illegible] was to steal a gun from a farmer and with flask full of ammunition set forth in search of game. Just before entering the woods he saw Osborne, who was returning home from this morning's rounds. The two men were acquainted and common place remarks were exchanged. On departing Osborne remarked that the gun was old fashioned and asked Lobdell what he expected he could do with it. Lobdell replied 'twas none of his business. Hot words followed and resulted in Lobdell which was an army flintlock, taking deliberate aim and pulling the trigger. Osborne was only ten feet away. He fell in his tracks, his face and breast being riddled with shot. Lobdell fled to the woods where he was captured at 1 o'clock this afternoon and is now held at Wilton. Osborne's eyesight was destroyed and he is not expected to recover.

Raising the Weapon,

Great excitement prevails and lynching is talked of. The lockup, however, is strong and well guarded. A hearing was had this afternoon and the prisoner was taken to Bridgeport jail.

A GROSS OUTRAGE.

Armed Men Burn a Man's House in a Georgia Town—Militia Called Out.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 26. Fifteen armed men burned the dwelling of I. E. Varker, in Coffee County, last night because of his supposed participation in the late riot. Governor Gordon has called out the militia.

A TOWN FLOODED

By the Breaking of a Pipe—Much Damage Done.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26. A despatch from Temple, Tex., says that 280,000 gallons of water, confined in a stand pipe broke loose early Friday morning and flooded the town. Houses, barns, fences and other property were washed away. Much damage was done and the loss is heavy.

FIRST MEETING

Of the Vassar Aid Society.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. The Vassar Aid Society, whose object is to promote the fitness among those who have graduated from the college, and also to help needy students, held its first annual meeting today. President James M. Taylor, of Vassar College, said that $42,000 had been expended by the trustees of Vassar in the aid of students who were anxious to complete the course. The college, he declared, would spend in a similar way $11,000 for the present school year.

The following are the newly elected officers of the society: President, Mrs. R. Kendrick, of Poughkeepsie; Vice President, Prof. Abbey Leach, '85, Vassar; Secretary, Miss Alice Hayes, Cambridge, Mass.; Treasurer, Mrs. Marie Stuback Mackay, Boston, Mass.; Auditor, Miss Phillips, Ridgewood, N. J.; Directors, Prof. Mary W. Whitney, '68, Vassar Miss Rachael Jacobs, '79, Springfield, Mass. Three scholarships were announced: The general society, $300; Brooklyn branch, $100, and the Boston branch, $200.

HIGH TIDES.

Great Damage Caused by the Water.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Oct. 26. The Hudson river to-day showed the highest tide for forty years. Brick yards suffer enormously, millions of brick being lost. The yards between Rochester and Albany are submerged and green brick awaiting burning thrown down by the flood. It is estimated that 46,000 brick were lost in Kingston district. Fires were put out in the kilns in process of burning. The Newark Lime and Cement Co.'s sheds were submerged with twelve inches of water.

SPEAKER REED

Greeted by Great Crowds.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Oct. 25. The city is alive to-day with Republicans from all over the northern part of the state, who had come to hear Speaker Reed. The Speaker arrived here at noon, having been met en route by a large delegation from this city. At 1 o'clock a mass meeting was held on the fair grounds, Mr. Reed delivering the principal address.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT

For the Murder of a Man.

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 25. The Jury in the case of John E. [illegible], charged with the murder of John D. Fiske on the 30th of July this evening returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. The penalty was fixed at imprisonment for life.

A GENERAL WRECK.

Destruction Wrought by the Bursting of a Huge Wheel.

Electric Station in Lynn a Scene of Great Confusion.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 26. The Lynn Gas and Electric Company suffered a serious loss at 2 A. M. to-day at the Electric Light and Power station on Pleasant street by the explosion of a large flywheel 20 feet in diameter on a 500 horse power Corliss engine, used for running the arc lights for street lighting. From some unknown cause fire was started among the wires in the wire tower, burning out the dynamo connections, throwing an immense load upon the engine. The governor failed to control the speed of the engine and the long fly wheel on which was a 34 inch belt revolved at

and burst. One section went through the corner at the front end of the building, tearing out a large hole in the brick side of the wall, also in the roof. A huge piece of iron wheel struck a wooden building adjoining, occupied by C. O. Marshall, as a wood turning and planing mill, tearing out a section of the side of the frame. The other piece of the wheel went through the opposite corner, making a big hole in the brick wall and roof, wiping out the power station office. No one was injured. Three men were on duty at the time of the explosion. An alarm was sent and the firemen responded. The fire burned out before their arrival. The made it impossible to enter the building for some little time. The huge engine was considerably wrecked and the interior of the front end of the station presented a demoralized appearance, beams and brick being piled up in confusion. The dynamos are running as usual to-night, the company having a reserve engine which is being used. The engine cost when new $100,000. The dynamos in the vicinity of the engine were slightly damaged.

The total loss is between $10,000 and $12,000.

FROM WASHINGTON.

News About the Capitol.

Bonds Redeemed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. The amount of 4½ per cent. bonds redeemed to date under the circular of Oct. 9, is $37,900, making the total to date $3,085,950.

EXCITED NEW ORLEANS.

Italian Consul Complains to the State Department—A Meeting of Citizens Called.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 25. Gov. Nichols has received a dispatch from Secretary Blaine apropos of the threats against the Italians here growing out of the Hennessey killing. The Italian consul at this city, Sig. Corti, after complaining to the municipal authorities, the Governor and others, laid the matter before the Italian minister at Washington, charging that Italians are ill-treated, that their houses were entered and searched by men without warrant of law, and that they had been subjected to great indignities.

The Italian minister saw Secretary Blaine, who telegraphed to Gov. Nichols. The latter refused to give the telegram to the press, but it is understood that it simply called and the possibility of protecting the Italians against any violence.

The Elysia arrived here to-day with 1003 Sicilian immigrants on board. She will anchor in midstream, but the immigrants will not be allowed to disembark before Monday. Every effort has been made to prevent their landing at all; but the federal authorities do not see how this can be prevented.

The committee of safety is getting itself all tangled up. The committee was appointed by the Mayor, and the Hennessy case turned over to it. It asked the papers not to publish anything about the case, but all would not agree to this. It then ordered Detective O'Malley to have nothing to do with Italians, but he refused to obey its orders, and as a final resource, it

Called a Mass Meeting

Monday with the idea, it is thought, of appealing to the people and asking for extraordinary powers—that is, the right to act as a sort of vigilance committee.

The papers to-day oppose the mass meeting in very emphatic terms and say that if it is held now it will inevitably result in a riotous demonstration against the Italians.

Mayor Shakespeare waited on the committee this evening to object to the meeting as likely to produce a riot. The chairman showed him the report that would be presented, and copies of the speeches that would be made, and satisfied him that it would be a quiet and peaceable affair. A number of members of the City Council also came to protest, but Went Away Satisfied.

Finally the Italian consul, Fr. Monoritta of the Callan Church of St. Anthony, and the heads of all the Callan societies, some twenty in all, waited on the committee to know the exact purpose of the meeting, and, after hearing it, approved of it.

The committee says that it will present a plan that will bring about the punishment of Hennessy's murderers and break up the Mafia and vendetta without mob violence. Nevertheless, as an extra precaution, the entire police force will be on duty at the meeting to prevent any disorder on the part of virulent people.

ISLAND OF ICE.

Huge Obstruction to Navigation.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26. Capt. Bocquet of the British steamer Marine, arrived today from Swanzea, reports that Oct. 20, in latitude 45.03, longitude 48.20, they passed an island of ice, 2,600 feet long and 450 feet high. In the vicinity of this obstruction are hundreds of detached pieces, rendering navigation extremely dangerous.

MR. BLAINE IN CHICAGO.

The Guest of His Son a Few Days.

A BOWDOIN GRADUATE.

Arrested in Turkey on Suspicion of Being a Plotter.

He is Afterwards Released and Satisfaction Demanded.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 26. Trouble has arisen between Mr. Hirsch, the American minister and the Porte over the arrest of an American subject on suspicion of being implicated in the Armenian revolutionary plot. The accused is a graduate of Bowdoin College and came to Turkey to found an American College. The project failed but he remained here. His arrest was at the accused's residence, and in spite of his protest that he was an American and his production of his passport, he was hurried to prison without being allowed to dress. In the morning he was allowed to communicate with the American minister and was soon released on condition that he should stand trial. Minister Hirsch sent an energetic protest against the

of domicile of an American citizen and demanded satisfaction and punishment of the official who ordered his arrest. He further declared he would refuse to produce the accused unless satisfaction was granted and until he was informed of the nature of the charge against him. A statement was sent to Mr. Hirsch that the accused engraved a seal for a secret Armenian committee.

Proof was Produced

that the man had no knowledge of the art of engraving and had recently been acting as agent for an American firm engaged in the manufacture of photographic apparatus. The government expressed its regrets. Mr. Hirsch still maintains his demand for satisfaction.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

October Term, 1890.

HON. THOMAS H. HASKELL, Justice.
JOHN A. HAYDEN, Reporter.
WILLIAM F. KERN, Sheriff.
CHARLES F. SWEET, Esq., Clerk.

Saturday, Oct. 25th.

No business was transacted in court today, settlements being made without trial, and court adjourned to Monday morning at the usual hour.

Harvard and Bowdoin at Foot Ball

The Bowdoin eleven played the Harvards at Cambridge, Mass, Saturday afternoon, and were beaten as was expected. Harvard having a very strong team and long experience, 48-0. Packard, one of Bowdoin's best quarter backs, did not play. The Boston Herald says in its item:

The Bowdoin men, considering that this was one of the first games they have played this season, did very well. The team which Bowdoin presented was the heaviest Harvard has met this year, and especially the rush line. Physically the Bowdoins are a fine set of men, but they know nothing about the game. They used their force of weight quite well in the second half, getting the ball down to within 12 yards of Harvard's goal, but that was the nearest they came to the posts. It seemed to be Bowdoin's policy to keep the ball, and if on three downs there was more than three yards to gain, the tackler would run back 20 yards, so as to leave the first down. This sort of work prevented Harvard from running the score up higher.

The Globe says:

If Harvard had such men in the centre of the rush line as Bowdoin has, her team would be almost invincible. Jackson, Dr. Sargent's perfect man, played centre and had no serious difficulty with Bangs. If it had not been for the backs the Harvard players would have had great difficulty in running up any score worth speaking of. Parker and Hastings were strong as guards. The best work for Bowdoin was done by Tukey and Horne, the tackles. They were the only ground-gainers in the line, but they did well. Tukey has a magnificent physique, and when he got the ball with his men behind him he almost always gained ground. He was distinctly the best man on the team. Horne also made some good rushes; he was hurt in the second half and gave way to Downes.

There is considerable interest this year in foot ball in Maine, and the work of the Bowdoin team in the championship games of the New England League will be watched with interest. Bowdoin and Dartmouth play next Saturday at Hanover, N. H.

Took French Leave.

Last Saturday evening while all was quiet at the police station, Robert Smyth, a young man who was incarcerated for drunkenness, proceeded to use his spare time in digging out. With some sharp instrument he dug out the mortar from between the brick in the back of his cell and gradually removed enough brick to allow of his exit into the walk back of the cells. He then marched boldly out into the street through the lower door which opens from the inside easily. About the time he made his escape his fine was paid and Capt. Nickerson was about to liberate him. The station should be repaired in its weak places as several have escaped in the same manner.

HE YELLED KEMP'S BALSAM.

I yell "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure." I always do when I hear a man cough, and I can't help it. It saved me and it will cure you. I was threatened with pneumonia last winter and it broke it up. It helps the children out when their throats are sore, cures their coughs, and tastes so good. The first dose helps you. So writes A. R. Arnold, engineer on the West Shore Ry., at Canajoharie, N. Y.

For scrofula,
Salt rheum, etc.,
Take Hood's Sarsaparilla. 2

Pears' is the purest and best Soap ever made. 3

Pears' Soap secures a beautiful complexion. 1

Pain and dread attend the use of most catarrh remedies. Liquids and snuffs are unpleasant as well as dangerous. Ely's Cream Balm is safe, pleasant, easily applied into the nostrils, and a sure cure. It cleanses the nasal passages and heals the inflamed membrane, giving relief at once. Price 50c. FMW&w1w oct17

ASK YOUR FRIENDS ABOUT IT.

Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottles 50 cts. and $1 at all druggists. Sample bottle free. MWF&w

LOCAL MATTERS.

The Woman's Alliance connected with the Unitarian church will meet this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

The members of Sister Mary Chapter of St. John's Episcopal parish will hold a meeting next Thursday at 2.30 P. M., to sew for the poor.

There will be a meeting of the Trustees of the Eastern Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary at the Common Council room, this afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

The "Reckless Temple" company, which was at the Opera House Friday night, left Saturday for New York. To-night an engagement there will be opened at the Standard Theatre.

A large crew of men numbering over a hundred, was sent off yesterday by Mr. Jeroey Kelly on the way to South Carolina where they will work for a large lumbering concern.

The children of the Children's Home upon invitation of Manager Owen attended the presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Opera House Saturday afternoon and feel very grateful to him for his kindness.

More lumbering crews have left the city and the up river towns in the past few days and the year's operations are fast getting under way. It is expected that the amount to be cut will average about the same as last year.

To-morrow is Saints Simon-Jude Day and an appropriate service will be held at St. John's Episcopal church in the afternoon at 5 o'clock. Saturday is All Saints Day, and a service will be held at the same church at 10.30 A. M.

Mrs. Eben Curtis, of North Newburgh, ninety-seven years old, fell one day last week and fractured her leg. She is as comfortable as could be expected, considering her great age. Her many friends hope for a complete and speedy recovery.

Morse & Co. shipped Saturday to A. W. Thayer, Augusta, an elegant quartered oak mirror frame 97x43 inches, with inside measurement for glass, of 36x33, to be placed in the Augusta House. They also sent two of their elegant wood mantels to Caribou, purchased by G. I. Teichey, Esq., for the new bank at that place.

There was another lively market in Pickering Square Saturday forenoon and there was a large amount of produce for sale. Buyers were numerous. Potatoes, eggs, apples and meats sold at a reasonable figure, and were disposed of without difficulty. Now that the farmers are through with their harvesting they have more time to devote to trade.

The Katahdin Iron Works is a favorite resort this fall with parties from this city and elsewhere, as there is fine hunting, good hotel and camp accommodations, and beautiful scenery in that region. Quite a large number of Bangor people has visited the Works thus far this fall, and others intend to do so while the conditions are favorable, as they will be for several weeks longer.

Rev. William G. Mann, pastor of the Second Congregational church, at Biddeford, who is well known to the clergy of this city, was to have preached his farewell sermon yesterday, and will leave early in the week for Pueblo, Col., where he has been called to a pastorate. His parishioners did the handsome thing last week by presenting him with an elegant gold watch and chain.

The sounds of harmonious music which come from the band room of the Bangor Band, indicate that the band is doing some very effective practice for the benefit concert to be tendered to Director A. D. Harlow at the Opera House next month, and also show that a very attractive programme will be given by the band. The other talent will furnish a pleasing variety. Bangor musical people will doubtless attend in large numbers.

There have been several escapes from a storm, which seemed at times about to begin with business intent, in the last few days, and the pleasant weather should therefore be duly appreciated. With heavy storms to the west and predictions for a journey east, the skies have been blue in this section. For the past four mornings, at early hours the moon and sun have been covered with dark clouds which looked like rain, but each time they have been blown away and the days have been pleasant.

SUNDAY'S FIRE. The fire alarm from box 51 yesterday forenoon a few minutes after 11 o'clock was caused by a slight fire at the residence of Mr. J. E. Duffy, at the corner of State and Essex streets. The fire department responded with its usual promptness and a stream of water was turned on with the result that the blaze was quickly extinguished. The fire caught about the wood work near the furnace which had become very hot, the slides having been left open and forgotten, giving a strong draft. When discovered the wood about the registers was burning slightly and there was considerable smoke. The damage done was to the floor and carpets and it is thought that it will not amount to much more that $75 or $100. The loss is covered by insurance.

PROCESSION OF SPORTSMEN. The sportsmen still continue to pass through the city in large numbers bound for the hunting regions. It is a common sight to see a number of men alight from the inbound trains, carrying guns carefully cased, and march up the platform in search of their baggage. Those who did not know who they are and what they came for might suppose that the militia had been called out. The hunters who have been in the woods and returned evidently have spread the reports of good hunting, as the number of sportsmen on the move shows. There are so many regions celebrated for big game that there is plenty of game for all. The signs of success in the woods are the venison dinners at private houses and at the hotels, deer, caribou and moose at the markets, and antlers and skins at the taxidermist establishments.

BEARS IN THE ROAD. Mr. E. L. Morrill, who returned from a trip to the Iron Works and vicinity on Saturday tells a good bear story. A gentleman who is stopping at the Silver Lake Hotel took his shot gun a few days ago and started down the old road which leads to Brownville Junction, on the lookout for partridges. When he got in the vicinity of the place well known as the "three mile pitch," he saw, a short distance ahead of him what he at first thought to be a big Newfoundland dog. A nearer approach proved it to be a bear which at the same time continued to come toward him. He was undecided what to do, as he had nothing in his gun but a charge of number eight shot, and no other ammunition about him. While he was trying to decide whether to advance or retreat he saw still another bear, bigger and blacker, if possible, than the first, at a little further distance, also approaching him. His mind was at once made up what to do, and making a detour into the woods he made quick time in getting around the "bars" and back to the hotel.

Clarence Reynolds met with a painful accident Friday afternoon at the Great Works pulp mill. While drawing some pulp shred from the drying cylinders, his hand and arm were drawn in badly breaking the bones above and below the elbow. Everything possible is being done for him and it is hoped that the arm may be saved.

Rev. George W. Hinckley, of Oakland in whom so many of our citizens are interested as the founder of the Good Will Home for Boys, will speak to-night in the series of special meetings now being held in the first Baptist chapel. His subject will be "Why I Ought to be a Christian." Miss Annie L. Semple will also be present and sing one or more solos.

A YOUTHFUL BURGLAR. A broken window pane at a store in Pickering Square offered inducements to Mitchell Garfing, a boy about eight years of age, to enter, which he did by climbing up a board and crawling through into the store where he secured some candy, about fifty cents in change and two watch chains. Officer Davis learned of the affair and soon had Garfing in charge, taking him to the station. Officer Davis and Officer Bowen made further inquiries and learned that Bennie Garfing and Frank Brennan, younger than Mitchell had witnessed the theft. Mitchell although very young in years is somewhat old in law breaking as he is known to have committed other bad actions. His father, who is away, has been written to and will come here to see what will be done in the case.

INTERESTING HARVEST CONCERT. The harvest concert given last evening at the First Methodist church, Pine street, was a very interesting event and the programme was carried out in a most creditable manner. The decorations, consisting of flowers, products of the harvest and an arch of green, were the finest at the church for a long time and showed much taste in arrangement. The following was the programme: Organ voluntary, Mrs. U. B. Ayer; duet, Mrs. Taylor and Mr. Morton; prayer, Rev. A. Prince; solo, Mr. Morton; singing, school; responsive reading, superintendent and school; singing, school; reading, Mrs. Robinson; responsive reading, superintendent and school; singing, school; responsive reading, superintendent and school; clarinet solo, Mr. Myron Wheeler; solo, Miss Mildred Cates; responsive reading, superintendent and school; singing, Miss Willie Rich; remarks, pastor, Rev. Geo. D. Lindsay; collection; singing, school and congregation; benediction, Rev. A. Prince; closing voluntary, Mrs. Ayer. In the morning the pastor preached an appropriate sermon from Ecc. 11, 6—"In the morning sow thy seed. In the evening withhold not thy hand, for thou knowest not whether shall prosper either this or that, or whether they both shall be alike good."

AFTER MANY DAYS

Benjamin M Schwartz Arrested on the Charge of Embezzlement of Property.

State Detective George W. Harriman has returned from a successful trip to Massachusetts which resulted in the capture of a man who has been wanted for some time. Two years ago Benjamin M. Schwartz was acting as agent on the installment plan for H. M. Kinports, 71 Cornhill, Boston, and went about the country peddling rugs, etc. It is charged that at that time he sold out his goods for $189.90, appropriated the money and left for parts unknown.

A warrant for his arrest was issued at that time and since then efforts have been made to secure him, but without success until recently. The matter was put into the hands of Detective Harriman and he has been at work upon the case. Inquiries resulted in the information that Schwartz has been in New Hampshire lately, and afterwards the detective learned that he was in Massachusetts. A despatch from the chief of police of Fitchburg, Mass., informed the detective that the man he wanted was there at the time the telegram was sent, which was Tuesday of last week, and Detective Harriman accordingly started at once for Fitchburg.

Upon arriving there he found that Schwartz had not been arrested, and that he had gone to Ayers Junction, about fifteen miles away. Thither the detective went and found the long wanted peddler, whom he lost no time in putting under arrest. The detective took his man to Boston, but there the fellow refused to go any further without requisition papers. Upon being informed that he would be remanded to jail while the detective returned to Maine and got the papers, which would only make a delay, he concluded to go on without them.

The officer and his prisoner arrived in Lewiston, Friday evening, and Saturday Schwartz was before the court with the result that he was placed under $500 bonds for his appearance at the January term. Failing to obtain bail he was committed to jail in Auburn to await trial. The prisoner, who is a young man, is well known in this section of the State where he has peddled goods.

First Baptist Church.

Special services to be called a "Christian week" will be held in the chapel every evening to October 31, at 7.30 o'clock. The pastor will be assisted by the persons mentioned in connection with the following topics:

Monday—Why I Ought to be a Christian. Rev. George W. Hinckley will speak, and Miss Annie L. Semple will sing.

Tuesday—How Shall I Become a Christian? Rev. George W. Hinckley will speak and Miss Annie L. Semple will sing.

Wednesday—What is it to be a Christian? General Secretary R. A. Jordan will speak and Miss Mary Morgan will sing.

Thursday—How Shall I Know I am a Christian? Rev. Sewall Browne will speak and Mr. Allan G. Ray will sing.

Friday—How Shall I Grow as a Christian? Rev. Sewall Browne will speak and Mr. Allan G. Ray will sing.

Should the interest warrant it, the special services will be continued a second week. There will be excellent congregational singing from Gospel Hymns No. 5. All are cordially invited.

The Episcopal "Autumn Festival."

A treat is to be furnished the Bangor people next Tuesday evening in the "Jack Trust" which is to be presented at the Autumn Festival at City Hall. This bright comedy is by the author of the "Box of Monkeys," and will be greatly enjoyed, as it abounds in clever repartee and amusing situations. The plot hinges on the susceptibility of the hero, an English nobleman, who finds himself in the sad predicament of being pursued by three fiancees who make a raid on the hotel at which he is staying, their efforts to preserve their incognito, and the dances and songs which are introduced in their assumed roles, make a very interesting and attractive play. In the hands of the following well known amateurs the comedy is sure to be well interpreted: Lord Jack Towsley, Mr. J. E. Hambleton; Jennie Pattie, Mrs. H. M. Plummer; Clarinda De Courcey, Miss Blaisdell; Enid Orde, Mrs. George Jefferds; Mrs. Boothby, Miss Julia Dillingham; Dennis, Mr. F. H. Davis.

In addition to the above programme the audience will have the pleasure of listening to Mrs. Buck, who has kindly consented to sing.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY GRANGE.

Interesting Meeting with Enterprise Grange, of Orrington Centre.

The meeting of Penobscot County Grange with Enterprise Grange, Orrington Centre, brought together not only large numbers of the leading farmers of this county, but quite a number from adjoining counties, among the number being H. J. Harriman, Worthy Master, and several members of Hancock Pomona Grange. The meeting was formally opened at the usual hour by Worthy Master Gregory. An invitation was received and accepted to meet with East Eddington Grange in November. Mrs. S. H. Higgins, of Enterprise Grange, gave the visitors a whole-hearted, Orrington welcome, intimating that they must take it for granted when they were invited to Orrington that they were wanted, or they would not have received the invitation. She was heartily glad to see so many friends present, and had full faith that her associates by their kind attentions during the day would be better proof of a sincere brotherly welcome than she could offer even if she were capable of writing and delivering the longest and best essay that ever had been heard by the order.

Worthy Master Dole, of Pine Grove, responded in a happy manner, referring briefly to the many benefits all had received from such fraternal visits and the interchange of experiences and friendly greetings. The reports from the subordinate organizations occupied the time until noon. The reports were most encouraging from all quarters.

At twelve o'clock dinner was served in the hall, and there was no lack of food or waiters, and all were made happy.

The first of the afternoon was occupied with short speeches for the "good of the order."

One of the speakers was a recent graduate of the Maine State College and that institution being referred to he took occasion to say to the farmers present that he could say to them from personal experience and knowledge that the management was most excellent and the institution was worthy of their confidence and hearty support. His remarks were heartily applauded. Common schools and other matters were discussed at some length, after which Enterprise Grange furnished the following programme which proved a pleasing closing exercise, all the parts being remarkably well rendered. Recitations by Alice Bartlett and Flora Pond; song by Mrs J. B. Bartlett. A large choir under the direction of chorister Hall furnished excellent music at intervals throughout the day.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

That well worn, but still charming production "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was given at the Opera House Saturday evening by the New England Souvenir Uncle Tom's Cabin Company. There was a good sized matinee audience present in the afternoon, and the children especially had a good time. In the evening the audience was smaller. Mr. Coe, who is an old time minstrel, made a good impression as "Uncle Tom." Miss Frankie Carpenter's "Topsy" was amusing and her dancing was appreciated. Miss Mabel Carpenter made a pleasing "Eva."

"Spider and Fly" To-Night.

Leavitt's big vaudeville company, presenting "Spider and Fly," will arrive this morning on the Pullman train, direct from Providence, R. I., and to-night will present the extravaganza at the Opera House, closing the engagement with a second representation to-morrow evening. The sale of seats has been large, and two large audiences will doubtless witness the latest novelty in pantomime and burlesque. The company is a large one, strong in its specialty features, and a large amount of special scenery is carried.

The Japanese Village

The Japanese Village will be seen at Norombega Hall for a short time beginning to-morrow, and many will doubtless go to the hall to witness the interesting features. There will Japanese men, women and children, in native costumes who will daily illustrate and reproduce with all the original paraphernalia the arts, sciences and mysteries of the far off Orient. There will be receptions every afternoon except Tuesday from 2 to 5 and every evening from 7 to 10.

The Two-Headed Nightingale.

A two-headed lady is advertised to appear at the Opera House the last four evenings of this week, and three matinees. The manager says that nobody need have a particle of doubt concerning the genuineness of this wonderful being as authorities and the press vouch for her. The management state if she is not all that she is represented to be five times the amount paid to see her will be cheerfully refunded. Physicians, clergymen, school teachers, city officials and members of the press are cordially invited to be present at the Opera House on Wednesday afternoon when they will be given an exclusive opportunity to see the wonderful being. The general public will be given a like opportunity every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week. There is also a comedy and specialty entertainment.

Notes.

"Hands Across the Sea" is the next dramatic attraction at the Opera House. The dates are Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger, of New York, and Mr. C. B. Jefferson have secured from Mr. Eugene Tompkins the rights to "The Soudan" for next season, and intend giving it the same sumptuous production as is now being given at the Boston Theatre. Bangor will have the piece in the early fall next year.

Interesting Letter from C. H. Nelson

An Auburn gentleman received Saturday morning a personal letter from Mr. C. H. Nelson, dated Cambridge, Indiana, Oct. 22d, in which Mr. Nelson writes.

The quarters of Nelson's mile in 2.10¾ were trotted as follows:
First quarter, 33¾.
Second quarter, 32.
Third quarter, 33.
Last quarter, 32.

All think Nelson has not arrived at his limit, and if kept in trotting condition will lower all past records.

Daisy Rolfe, sister to Nelson, has shown us 2.20.

Kedora, sister to Aubine, 2.29¾.

Red Hawk, 2.23¼, fourth heat. Red Hawk will trot in 2.20.

Artist, 2.29, by Dictator Chief.

Testator, 2.41¼, two year old, by Dictator Chief.

Colonel Osgood, three year old, by Wilkes, went an easy mile yesterday, in 2.29¼. He has just rounded to from his sickness. Goes as steady as Nelson.

We leave here for Richmond, Indiana, and Chicago.

There was an error in Mrs. Florence C. Porter's recent letter in THE WHIG. Referring to the Bangor meeting the article reads: "At this State convention in Bangor Mrs. Mary A. Livermore was the distinguished speaker and she framed the resolution which was submitted as a minority report in place of the one above given, but failed of a passage." Corrected it should read: "At this convention a [illegible] for Mrs. Mary T. Lathrop was the distinguished speaker and Mrs Mary A. Livermore framed this resolution" etc.

A ROUGH PASSAGE.

The Steamer Lewiston Three Days and Six Hours Coming from Boston.

The steamers Lewiston and Penobscot, of the Boston and Bangor Steamship Company's line, arrived in this city yesterday after passing through one of the most severe storms yet encountered this year, the Penobscot arriving in this city at about half-past nine and the Lewiston two hours later. The Lewiston, which was expected to arrive here Friday afternoon, left Boston at her usual time on Thursday, although the indications were that there would soon be a severe gale raging all along the coast and the sea was growing worse and worse all the time. The steamer did not have a large passenger list, all who contemplated going and who were in a hurry having been advised by Capt. Ingraham to take the train, as the chances were the steamer would go no farther than Gloucester that night, although it was hoped they might be able to run through.

When the vicinity of Cape Ann was reached, however, the heavy wind had increased to a gale, going fifty miles an hour and increasing every minute, so that for the safety of all it was necessary to make a harbor at Gloucester, where the harbor was comparatively smooth, hoping that in the morning they might be able to continue on the trip. The gale kept increasing in violence however and the second anchor was dropped to keep the steamer as steadily as possible. The gale did not diminish, however, until Saturday forenoon and about noon a boat, containing Steward Warner, Purser Eaton, Freight Clerk Hatch and two passengers besides a representative of THE WHIG, put off from the steamer to the city to get some supplies and newspapers, to see what the news was. During the storm the Cumberland, of the International line, had also come to anchor in the roads, as it was too rough for her outside. The sea having gone down somewhat, at midnight on Saturday the boat left the sheltering harbor of Gloucester and steamed away for Rockland, arriving there about three o'clock, after a rough night and one during which few of the passengers escaped seasickness. Capt. Ingraham said that never before, although he had had to make a harbor many times, had he been obliged to remain there as long as at this time

The passengers whiled the hours away as best they could in reading and indulging such games as their resources provided, enjoying from a safe distance the sight of the great waves as they tossed about outside and the foaming breakers as they broke on Norman's Woe and the rocks all around the harbor to the eastern point of the cape. It was much enjoyed but all were glad when once more they found themselves on the broad ocean. The passengers who came down on the trip express themselves as highly pleased with their entertainment on board and of the courteous attention which they received from the officers while waiting, meals being served by Steward Warner which were excellent as is his cooking always and prices being placed as low as possible, the officers taking especial pains to see that all had enough to eat. Indeed it was the wish of all that, should they ever be obliged to go through another such experience they might do it with such a gentlemanly set of officers as those whose acquaintance they made during a three days voyage between Boston and Bangor.

Our Own Folks and Other Folks.

Mr H. L. Hall is at home for a few days visit.

Mr. Charles T. Stackpole, of Gardiner, is in the city.

Mayor E. H. Blake returned home from Boston yesterday.

That Terrible Weakness.

Why So Many Women Are Faint, Weak, Tired, Nervous and Exhausted.

Women are great sufferers from nervousness, weakness, nervous prostration and debility. Thousands of girls droop and languish in the close, confined atmosphere of shops factories or offices, and hundreds of thousands wear out their nerve force and power in household cares family bereavements and responsibilities, and work which never ends.

Here lies the great strain upon the nervous system of women Here is the cause why so many women complain of being weak, nervous, tired and exhausted

They have little or no rest, their life is one continual round of work What wonder that such women go to bed at night fatigued, and wake tired and unrefreshed in the morning! What wonder that they become worn out, so to speak, in nerve and vital power! What wonder that they have great weakness, exhaustion, pain in back and limbs, together with the distressing female complaints which are always caused by loss of vital strength and vigor! Of how many thousands of women is the above a true and exact transcript of daily life? They have worn out and exhausted their nerve force and physical power They must work, but it follows as surely as the day follows the night, that they must receive from some source a renewal of nerve force and physical energies or the human machine will soon cease to run at all

The great nerve invigorant and female restorative is Dr Greene's Nervura No remedy in the world is so sure to bring back the bloom and color to the wan and faded cheeks, the brilliancy to the hollow and haggard eyes the lightness and elasticity to the weak and weary step, the strength and vitality to the unstrung, shattered and worn out nerves It is the greatest of all uterine tonics and regulators and cures all female weakness and disease It is purely vegetable and harmless and can be procured at any druggist's for $1 per bottle

GLAD TIDINGS OF HEALTH.

I wish to say, for the benefit of others, that I was taken sick with Heart Disease I had two scientific physicians, and was under their care seven or eight months, but constantly grew worse lost 25 pounds of flesh, and was so weak I could not raise myself in bed, and the doctors said I could be no better But, hearing of Dr Greene's Nervura, I commenced taking it, and in a week I began to feel better At present, after using it a few months, I am able to walk and ride out, have gained 40 pounds in weight, so that I consider that Dr Greene's Nervura saved my life for which I feel very grateful Mrs E M Bass, Making Richer Manure.

A large part of the value of fertilizers, says the American Cultivator, is due to the promptness of their action Stable manures are always proverbially slow. They are composed generally in great part of coarse straw or other material used for bedding, and except from grain fed animals, the excrement contains a ridiculously small proportion of available plant food. Fresh dung is not available until some fermentation takes place Until warm weather incites this the stable manure does little good After the heat of summer begins, the coarse manure in large amount may even injure crops in increasing droughts The manure applied in spring is often only brought in a soluble form by autumn, when fall rains and winter snows are ready to wash away its most valuable portion into ditches and rivers

We believe heartily in stable manure, but it is no detraction from its value to wish that it were more immediately available Two ways are open for doing this, one indirect, by feeding richer foods containing more nitrogenous and mineral elements, and the other direct, by adding to the manure pile potash phosphate and nitrates in the concentrated forms in which they are furnished in commercial manures This is what may often be done with great advantage Stable manures are generally apt to be deficient in phosphate, and the commercial phosphate contains a best only very small proportions of ammonia, though this rather than the mineral is what gives grain its more vigorous growth at the start. In an ammoniated phosphate there is usually only about two per cent. of ammonia or in a dressing of 150 pounds per acre about three pounds It is evident, therefore, that a mixture of the phosphate with stable manure benefits both, by making and keeping both in available condition for crops

A still greater improvement to most manure heaps is the addition with the phosphate of a dressing, say of twenty-five pounds of nitrate of soda, evenly distributed to each load of manure Eight loads of such manure per acre would give a dressing of 200 pounds of nitrogen in available form, and do any crop more good than either the phosphate or stable manure alone could possibly do What is wanted in stable manure is a tendency to decompose rapidly, and nothing better promotes this than nitrate of soda Phosphate alone is liable quickly to revert to insoluble forms, and nitrate of soda is the best preventive of this The nitrate of soda is more expensive per ton than commercial phosphate but is much more effective for immediate results, and a comparatively small amount per acre will produce a great increase of crop Since the discovery of nitrate beds in South America, his fertiliser can be procured much more cheaply than was thought possible a few years ago It can now be had for $50 to $60 per ton, and possibly less In appearance it resembles common salt, and should be made as fine as possible before distributing as a little will, for most crops, be sufficient if it reaches them all.

In every case where either nitrate of soda or phosphate is used to enrich manure, clover should be sown if it is with a grain crop, so as to leave something on the land after the crop is removed. The nitrate is very soluble, while the phosphate is liable to revert and become useless until made soluble again Clover roots prevent the loss of nitrates, while they greatly aid the solubility of the phosphate which the soil contains Soils long cropped with wheat produce good crops when clover is grown on them though only the roots are left in the soil Owing to its solubility it is better to defer the application of nitrate of soda to land until spring, as otherwise much of its value will be washed away by floods that often occur the latter part of winter as the snow goes off and the land is filled with water

Forks vs. Knives

One of the fads of that class in society which is forever seeking something to mark its superior fastidiousness to the rest of the world, we are told, is the exclusive use of the fork at table, the cutting of all meats with that implement, and therefore the eating of none that cannot be so divided As no sharp-edged fork has as yet been sold or patented, it follows that these fine people must either eat their meat in the condition in which much of its nourishment has been stewed out of it, or else must let it severely alone and become vegetarians, for the amount of beef or mutton or veal or fowl that has been boiled or roasted, which can be divided with a fork without main stress of force and awkwardness, would hardly be enough to sustain life, to say nothing of its inability to send the blood to the cheeks, to make blood, to maintain the round curves and outlines of beauty or the muscles of strength It is doubtful if the "fad" is ever recognized by the leaders of our haute noblesse, and if it will not be a good while before such a custom meets with any general adoption, for those who are born in good station do not easily change their habits, and it is only the aspirants, the climbers, who are ready to accept each new sign of superiority to their neighbors The first thought concerning this exclusive use of the fork is that those who practice it—like the girl in the fairy story who ate only one grain of rice at table—have either been or presently will go to a private pantry, and that they are among those whose grandparents, so far from eating with a fork alone, ate with a knife alone imitating the while the well-known conjurer's trick of swallowing it, and supplementing its use with their fingers If, however such a fashion should succeed in establishing itself, unless it brings with it a new style of fork, it will go far toward abolishing the eating of meat at all, and turn us into that race of grain and root and fruit eaters from whom perfect things are to be expected

Pneumatic Travelling

A PHILADELPHIA ENGINEER THINKS ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY MILES AN HOUR PRACTICABLE

From Philadelphia to New York in twenty minutes.

That is what W. Barnet Le Van, the well-known engineer of this city, proposes shall be one of the first accomplishments of the twentieth century. It is to be done by means of pneumatic tubes ten feet in diameter run in as near an air line as possible between the two cities, the cars to be propelled by exhausting the air in front of them

Mr. Le Van first enunciated his system in an address before the Franklin Institute in January, 1882, at which time it met the approbation and endorsement of the principal engineers of that body. Since that time Mr. Le Van has given much further thought to the matter, and developed the system into much more perfect shape.

THE PNEUMATIC PRINCIPLE.

The principle of pneumatic propulsion has long been in active operation in the transmission of packages and other materials. There is a pneumatic freight road in London which has been in successful operation for many years past. It shoots the cars five miles inside of seven minutes. A friend of Mr. Le Van, who took a trip over this road, said that the only inconvenient sensation was being in darkness, which would, of course, be obviated in a passenger road. The pneumatic tubes which carry money and small packages through the big stores of this city are on the same principle as Mr. Le Van's proposed to New York.

In describing his system Mr. Le Van said there should be two perfectly round tunnels between the cities, one for up trains and the other for down trains They should be of brick, finished smooth on the inside and ten feet in diameter This would be the case when the tunnel runs underground. In passing over rivers and cuts the tunnel would be of boiler iron or steel.

HOW TRAINS WOULD RUN

The cars would be cylindrical, made of steel, and made to fit air tight, in the tunnel by means of leather or rubber packing. Any number of cars could be used, as there would be no need for couplings on the train. The first car would be the piston for the train In going down an incline the first car could not leave the train without creating a partial vacuum between it and the next car, for the reason that each car has its packing between it and the tube The plan for operating the road is to have stations located every 5 miles at which would be placed large exhaust fans of precisely the same pattern is used in drawing foul air from the mines. These would withdraw the air in front of trains and deliver it behind them, thus providing a double propelling power, both pulling and pushing

"It would only take a pressure of one pound to the square inch," said Mr Le Van, "to propel the cars at the rate of 150 miles an hour, and this could be easily attained The distance from the public buildings in Philadelphia to the City Hall in New York is 81 miles in an air line and this could be covered in 20 minutes There would be no necessity for trains to stop at any station unless it was so desired, for balance gates would be provided which would open automatically for through trains

CHEAPER THAN RAILROADS

One strong feature of the system is its economy. The last annual report of the Pennsylvania railroad shows that that road uses $6,000,000 per year in coal The pneumatic system would require but $1,000,000 worth of coal There are other points upon which large savings could be made

"Some objections may be raised to underground roads of this kind For instance, persons of a nervous temperament would probably be timid about trusting themselves in the cars at first This was the case when the elevated railroads were first erected in New York, ladies especially would not enter them Now the ladies are the most enthusiastic patrons of the L roads There would be plenty of air in the train for breathing purposes, for it must be remembered that although the air is exhausted in front, the fronts of the cars are air-tight, and is constantly being supplied from behind "

A Thrilling Experience.

THE ADVENTURE OF A ST STEPHEN SAILOR BOY IN THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Mr Samuel Gilmore Jr , who left New York on May last in the good ship St Mary, bound for San Francisco, has had an experience which he will not soon forget The story, as related in a letter to his father in St Stephen, is one of the most thrilling of the many thrilling tales that so frequently come up from the mighty deep and set forth the dangers with which the ways of those who go down to the sea in ships are continually beset The letter is dated at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands South Atlantic Ocean, August 10th 1890, and it contains the following account of the voyage from the start amid the May sunshine until the ship was abandoned on the bleak coast of the Falklands

"We had a fine passage as far as the Cape," says the writer of the letter, "but when we rounded we struck a gale right in our teeth On the night of August 1st we were run into by a big iron ship and completely disabled We battered around till the 7th, not daring to run before the wind, on account of the high sea, when we wore ship and headed for these islands, intending to obtain repairs We again passed the Cape on the 8th and on the afternoon of the 10th sighted land once more At half past eight o'clock that night breakers were reported right ahead The order was quickly given to "Keep her off," but it was too late, and the St Mary struck and remained on the rocks We got four boats over and, after supplying them with provisions, waited for daylight, fearing every instant that the masts would go by the board We were spared this, however, and in the early morning we all got into the boats, except the captain, who refused to accompany us He told us that we needn't trouble ourselves about him that everything he possessed in the world was in the ship and he was going with it He displayed a glass, which contained a liquid we supposed to be poison, and told us that he intended to swallow it. Then threatening to shoot the first man who went near him, he ordered us to shove off and save ourselves We remonstrated with him in vain, and at last, though very reluctantly, were compelled to leave him

"At eleven o'clock the same morning we landed on the bank of a small creek in an island about fifteen miles from the ship There was no sign of life there, but climbing a hill near, we sighted another island not far away on which we discovered a house We again manned the boat and rowed to the second island, which we discovered was occupied and utilized as a sheep farm. We were taken care of by the people there, and word of the disaster and of our arrival was sent round to Port Stanley, from which place a vessel was despatched to receive us The next day we returned to our ship and found the captain, dead We took the body and brought it here with us A post mortem examination of the body was made and the doctor announced that heart disease caused his death The body was subsequently buried The captain was a native of Maine.

"We are now in charge of the American Consul and are quartered at different houses in the village The people are very kind and we are well taken care of It is lucky we were not cast ashore on the mainland or Terra del Fuego, as, it is probable we all would have been eaten up before this

"We are to be here until September 15th, when we shall take the mail steamer for Montevideo "

This letter was received Tuesday and, of course, no further tidings of the shipwrecked crew can yet be obtained
